

Broadway Sponsors Beauty Workshop for Teen-Age Girls

A six lesson Seventeen Magazine Beauty Workshop, open to girls between the ages of fourteen and eighteen, is being held at the Broadway Del Amo. Designed to teach local teenagers the beauty techniques of fashion models, the course is sponsored by the Broadway.

The five dollar fee for the Workshop covers lessons in such beauty basics as: sleep, exercise and diet; modelling; skin care and makeup with lessons by an expert cosmetologist; hair care and styling; facts, figures and wardrobe coordination; and tips on special teen beauty problems.

Text for the course is a forty-four page Seventeen beauty booklet. In addition girls receive a pink and black hatbox in which to carry the materials needed for each lesson, and a diploma when they graduate.

This marks the second time that the Broadway-Del Amo is offering the Workshop in this area. One of ninety stores from coast to coast offering these unique beauty classes, the Broadway was among forty charter members that carried the first sessions last Fall.

The course is offered to Hi-Deb Club members. The Club was started in the Broadway last Fall, especially for high school girls, and members received monthly news letters containing news from other schools and activities in the store, like the special Hi-Deb Fashion Shows. Girls may sign up for both the Hi-Deb Club and Beauty Workshop in the Hi-Deb Department of the Broadway.

Commenting on the success of previous Beauty Workshop classes, Miss Katie Nichols, the store Youth Coordinator, declared: "All young women are eager to learn how to improve themselves. That's why we are delighted to offer this course again—we know we are providing a real community service. During our new session we plan to give students advice on coordinating study and beauty routines, as well as modelling instruction which is used to advantage in our Hi-Deb Fashion Shows."

INFLATION....

Here's where inflation really hurts you

"You really feel inflation when you get to the check-out counter. That is when the dollars you have in your pocket seem to vanish fast.

Some people think they benefit from a little inflation—for a while.

The awakening comes when they find they are paying more and more for less and less—that more dollars are needed for the things that cost fewer dollars a while back.

That's inflation.

Inflation is caused by a lot of things. But one of the most important is rising labor costs without a substantial increase in the nation's productive efficiency. The reason: 75 percent or more of the final cost of what you buy goes for labor.

It's kind of a chain reaction. With each round of wage and price increases, your dollars lose another chunk of purchasing power.

If things keep on this way another twenty years—or ten—or five, what will you get for your dollar? What will happen to your savings, your insurance, your pension plans... your children's education?

Isn't it time to stop this spiral that eventually robs you of your future security?

The American Iron and Steel Institute brings you this message from the steel industry because

Inflation robs us all garbage! — E.F.P.

Dear Ann: I've been going with a swell fellow for 18 months. 'Henry' (I'll call him that) was engaged to a girl who ran around behind his back. He finally asked her to return his ring.

This is the problem, Ann, although my mother says I am childish, and insists there IS no problem. Henry wants to give me the same ring. I feel funny accepting a ring that was bought for another girl. We've touched on the subject lightly but Henry brushes it aside as a "little girl whim" that'll get over.

Shall I come right out and tell him exactly how I feel? Please help me decide.—SENTIMENTALIST

Dear Sentimentalist: Henry (I'll call him that, too) won't be wearing the ring, and neither will your mother.

For a modest sum the stone can be reset. In a different mounting it will look like a brand new ring. No girl should have to wear an engagement ring that reminds her of her fiancé's former sweetheart.

Confidential to LARK-HAPPY NOW: You aren't happy... you're anesthetized. Those pills don't take your troubles away. They take YOU away, temporarily. See a doctor.

(Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.)
